The Jay-Bears Are Right: Intercollegiate Sport is for Everybody

Tired of the usual run of professional sports in Edmonton? Fancy a change? Want to see high class athletes competing in fast and furious action? Why not come out, see intercollegiate sport and savor the rivalry between the Golden Bears, the Thunderbirds, and the Dinosaurs? Such is the message that is being promoted by a continuing close association between our Department of Athletic Services and the Edmonton Jaycees, an association that began in September 1980 with a donation of $10,000 to the University to bring intercollegiate sport to the wider community.

Last Thursday, 4 February, the Edmonton Junior Chamber of Commerce lived up to its commitment to assist in promoting university sports in our city with a grant to the Jay-Bear Society of a further $28,000. The Jay-Bears themselves are a new society formed late in 1981 out of an anticipation that involvement in the development and promotion of intercollegiate sport of Edmonton Jaycees and members of The University of Alberta community would continue to grow. The Jay-Bears, then, draw their members from both groups.

Essentially, the thrust of the Jay-Bear Society is one of creating awareness of intercollegiate sport in Edmonton. The members of the society, under the direction of the executive committee (Don Robertson, Chairman; Brian Heaney, President; Bill Barnett, External Vice-President; Steve Meunz, Internal Vice-President; and Brian McLeod, Treasurer) apply their marketing and athletic expertise in such matters as advertising events, arranging and sponsoring competitive meets such as the popular Klondike Basketball Classic (to be held this year from 28 to 30 December); and preparing attractive posters and the like.

So far, the activities encompassed by the union of University personnel and the Edmonton Jaycees has been impressive. In addition to the topics just now mentioned, the group has done everything from arranging the College Bowl re-match last fall between the Golden Bears and the University of Ottawa Gee-Gees to re-establishing a vivacious and dynamic squad of cheerleaders who, in Brian Heaney's words, "have done an outstanding job improving the spirit at games and events."

In 1982, the Jay-Bears intend to continue with their drive and inexhaustible energy. Under their sponsorship, the CIAU National Basketball Championship (to take place here in March 1983) will get a head start in all aspects related to marketing and promotion—so too will a major ice hockey event planned for November of this year and the second Klondike Basketball Classic.

The Jay-Bears' plans for the immediate future are equally enterprising. They have already embarked on a decal campaign, are in the final stages of preparing a sports yearbook, and are seriously examining the possibility of launching a sports network here in Edmonton that will broadcast events on radio and television.

As part of their promotion of intercollegiate sport, the Jay-Bears have already provided an opportunity that will be hard for many to resist: a "Big Ten Sports Package," whereby spectators can view ten major sporting events in February for a mere $10. Although the first two events will have probably taken place by the time this issue of Folio reaches you, the package still represents remarkable value. On 13 February, a select team from our University will battle against a swimming team that is recognized to be pre-eminent north of San Francisco, the University of Washington Huskies (West Pool). Later the same day (7:30 p.m., Varsity Arena), our Bears will face off against the University of Saskatchewan Huskies. On 19 February, the Bears' basketball squad will go up against the University of Saskatchewan Huskies in a battle of the giants (8:30 p.m. Main Gym). The next two days, 20 and 21 February, there will be displays of grace and strength as the University hosts the CWUAA Gymnastics Championships (1 to 5 p.m., Main Gym). Also on 20 February, there will be the second of two basketball games against the University of Saskatchewan Huskies (8:30 p.m., Main Gym) and two action-packed contests against the University of Calgary Dinosaurs puck and blades men (2:30 p.m., Varsity Arena). The February "Big Ten Sports Package" will close on 26 and 27 February with a high altitude meeting of the Bears and the University of British Columbia Thunderbirds basketball teams (8:30 p.m. each night, Main Gym).

For sponsoring the promotion of such events, the Edmonton

Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Jay-Bears are to be congratulated. The Jaycees have demonstrated outstanding commitment to the cause of intercollegiate sport with their donation last week of $28,000. Remember, the message behind all this is really quite simple: Intercollegiate sport is in a class by itself, neither amateur nor professional but, for all that, thrilling, exact and, above all, entertaining.

EFF Distinguished Visitor

Printmaker Judy Gouin Earning Art and Design Plaudits

"When nations grow old the Arts grow cold, And Commerce settles on every tree." William Blake.

Not to worry yet. Canada is a young nation and the arts are, by and large, rather sprightly. Commerce? A number of the inevitable inroads are being made but many artists prefer to stay well clear of any encroaching and binding foliage. Printmaker Judy Gouin is one of them. Now at this University under the auspices of the Endowment Fund for the Future, she is a disciple of the ars gratia artis principle. One reason that she was chosen as the Department or Art and Design's first artist in residence is that she is an artist totally devoted to making her own art, said Lyndal Osborne of the Printmaking Division. Oh, there is a touch of envy for, say, the painter who can pilot his own plane to some pristine landscape, get it on canvas during the day and fly home at night. A happy medium between the proverbial garret and the magnetic marketplace is an elusive destination but her visit of 7 January to 7 April could certainly prove to be a valuable signpost. The arrangement with the Department also sits well with printmaking students who are relating to Miss Gouin on a very basic level. Where teachers, even though they too are artists, are regarded strictly as teachers, Miss Gouin is held up as a professional artist, nothing less, nothing more. She does her own work while students work around her, exchanging ideas and discussing techniques at opportune moments.

Further underlining her visit is a public lecture/slide presentation to be given on 12 February at 2:30 p.m. in 2-20 Fine Arts Building. The audience will hear from a silkscreen (actually industrial nylon) printmaker who trained as a painter but who was "never happy with the historical imperatives."

Her quest for interesting subject matter that could be handled in a way she found credible in a contemporary context led her, at the age of twenty-two, to printmaking. At thirty-four, Miss Gouin continues to build a solid reputation in a young medium in the fine arts spectrum. Based at Toronto's Open Studio, her work has been exhibited in many Canadian galleries and in Bradford, England, and New York. She is represented in Canada by the Mira Godard Gallery.

From 12 to 26 February, ten or twelve of her most recent prints will be on display in the Printmaking Resources Library on the second floor of the Fine Arts Building. The library is open to the public from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays.

Upon concluding her visit, Miss Gouin will donate one print of each edition produced here to a segment of University Collections. □

Holy Window!

Just before 11 a.m. last Wednesday, 3 February, the second Loomis heist took place as two armored car guards were making a delivery of cash to the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce branch in the basement of the Students' Union Building. After an exchange of shots, the robbers escaped in an automobile.

According to reports by the Edmonton news media on 3 and 4 February and the accounts of some witnesses, there were three (or four) robbers who managed to steal $180,000 (or $200,000). They were armed with one (or two) handguns and a rifle (or submachine gun). During the heist itself, the robbers wore masks but, as they dashed (or walked) to their sedan (or stationwagon), they were not seen to be wearing these. One of the robbers was, according to several reports, injured by a volley from one of the security guards; he may (or may not) have been hit in the head. At any rate, a quantity of blood (variously described as large or small) was spotted in the snow along the robbers' escape route. The villain that may have sustained injury is thought either to have been dragged to the escape car by his accomplices or to have made his way to the car without assistance.

Apart from the diversity of reports, not unusual in such an incident, the event itself was no laughing matter. The robbery and exchange of shots took place at a time when SUB is habitually crowded. Moreover, at least one bullet penetrated a window in the University Chaplaincy but, luckily, no bystander was hurt. The security guards conducted themselves properly during the assault; one must, however, question the sanity of armed robbers who so readily let fly with their weapons.

Loomis Armored Car Services has announced a $40,000 reward for information leading to the arrest of the criminals. So far, the company's deliveries of cash to the CIBC branch in SUB have injected about a half million dollars into Edmonton and district's illicit economy; the previous attack took place on 10 December 1980 at which time unidentified thieves sped off with over $300,000. □

SSHRCC Receives $11 Million in New Funds

Communications Minister Francis Fox announced on 14 January that the Government of Canada has approved $11 million in new funding for the Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council of Canada (SSHRCC).

Mr. Fox said that, in 1981-82, the Council will receive an additional $1 million and another $5 million in each of the next two fiscal years. These new allocations will be in constant 1981 dollars and, taking inflation into account, will mean a 36 percent increase in the Council's total budget over the two-year period between 1980-81 and 1982-83.

The Council's expenditures totalled $41.7 million in 1980-81. The new money brings its total grants budget from $45.6 million in 1981-82 to $46.6 million and, with indexing for inflation, to $56.7 million in 1982-83.

"This additional funding for SSHRCC responds to the need, often expressed by the research community and government, to support research in Canadian studies, to fill the gaps in our knowledge of Canada in all its social, cultural, economic, and political complexity," Mr. Fox said. "However, I want to emphasize that, for the Council as a whole, this new emphasis will mean that support for independent research in other areas will be sustained.

"The principle of excellence in the quality of research will continue to be the Council's governing concern. Its process of awarding research grants on the basis of peer assessment will apply to strategic grants as to all others. Individual researchers and teams of researchers will be responsible, as they have always been, for devising their own research projects, and I understand they have already produced excellent and exciting work. Peer assessment will continue in the usual way.

"Since its establishment in 1978," said Mr. Fox, "the Council has given significant support to research in the social sciences and humanities. However, with these new funds, it will be able to provide this support in a much

Security Again

■ Campus Security is concerned with the increase in security related situations developing on campus. A number of thefts from lockers in the men's changing room at the Physical Education complex, together with thefts in general, are being investigated.

Lately, we have encountered a number of persons not affiliated with the University behaving suspiciously, resulting in action taken under the Petty Trespass Act or in referral to the Edmonton City Police. A noticeable number of persons having no fixed abode or apparent occupation have been checked on campus leading to our concern for the well-being of the campus community.

Students and staff are reminded to be security conscious, not to leave purses, wallets, and valuables exposed or in vacated offices and to inform Campus Security (5252) of suspicious situations that may be encountered.

Our escort services (5252) will take you to the parking lot or bus stop if you feel concerned.

*W.F.G. Perry,
Director,

more coherent and productive manner."

The strategy, as announced by the Council, has three major elements: "First, the Council will support more fundamental projects of a general nature in Canadian studies.

"Second, the Council will increase its support for research on a variety of strategic themes of national concern. To identify and define these themes, the Council has consulted extensively with the research community, users of its research, and the general public. This consultative approach will continue to be used in future to identify other themes. Themes for which increased funding will now be available are: aging of the Canadian population, the Canadian family and the socialization of children, and the human context of science and technology. The Council also plans in the near future to support strategic research on women in the work world and native studies.

"Third, the Council will employ a variety of funding mechanisms to build a solid and balanced base for these research efforts in every part of Canada. We recognize that it is not enough simply to fund research in Canadian studies. We must also ensure that we have enough qualified researchers and that they have the resources they need to do their job effectively. Equally important, we must ensure that small as well as large universities are able to conduct research and that it reflects regional and local as well as national perspectives.

"For these reasons, the Council will assist in the development of management research and the research capabilities in small regional universities. It will also direct more funds toward the provision of research tools and resources and the broadest possible dissemination of research results.

"I believe that this new Council strategy will do much to ensure a stronger commitment to the study of Canadian issues and concerns within the research community in every part of Canada. It will help to assure that Canadian policy-makers in both the public and private sectors make their decisions with a deeper knowledge of the Canadian context than has been possible up to the present. Finally, as the results of this research are made more widely known, Canadians will come to understand more about their country in all its diversity, and this new self-knowledge will help us all to comprehend where we stand in a rapidly shifting global and technological environment." □

Buildings Burn and Buildings Crumble

Reports in university bulletins across the country attest bad states of repair in at least two academic buildings. On Christmas Eve, according to the University of Waterloo Gazette (13 January 1982), the economics building of the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor was gutted in a blaze. The building, a 125-year-old structure that served as the first chemistry building at any North American university, housed some fifty faculty offices as well as classroom and research space.

In another report, in the University of Calgary Gazette (28 January 1982), it is said that University College at the University of Toronto is succumbing to the effects of acid rain. The building, erected in 1859 and now designated as a national historic site, is suffering to the extent that "some of the stone carvings look like a child's cartoon soap bar after a hard week in the tub." □

A Matchless Meeting

Among the more salubrious (and for some, significant) decisions taken at the most recent meeting of General Faculties Council, on 25 January 1982, was one that henceforth prohibits smoking during meetings of that Council. Although one member attempted to fire up opposition to the motion, proposed as a result of a councillor's severe physical reaction to tobacco smoke, his burning enthusiasm to protect the interests of what he hoped would be the majority was stubbed out when the vote came in, fifty pro and twenty-five con. From now on though councillors may fume, none may smoke. At last, a reversal of the old adage, for Council's debates may still be fiery.

To turn to other, more important matters, Council received the annual report from its Conference Funds Committee (only two of forty-seven applications for support were turned down in 1980-81; the most entertaining application was one for an event titled "A Heuristic Conference to Rename Canada"). The Council on Student Services also submitted its annual report, as did the Planning and Priorities Committee, the Academic Development Committee, the Facilities Development Committee, the Special Sessions Committee, and the Radio and Television Committee.

Ross Macnab, currently Vice-President (University) of the Universiade '83 Edmonton Corporation, also presented a report on the World University Games, to be held here from 1 to 11 July 1983. In response to questioning, he stated that the absolute cost for the Games would be between $33 and $34 million, in 1983 dollars, and that this for him is "the final figure."

Library financing was also pursued, with President Horowitz remaining hopeful that the problem will be resolved in favor of academic excellence. For the moment, a directive has gone out to departments to maintain last year's level of ordering but, in the President's words, we are now "spending money we don't have."

Remaining in the academic arena, a request from the Faculty of Agriculture and Forestry was approved with the effect that the grade point average for graduation from BSc programs in Agriculture and in Forestry be raised from 5.0 to 5.5. Also, a new degree program—a BSc Special Degree in Computer Assisted Cartography—gained the approval of Council.

Two other matters were dealt with on 25 January: it was agreed that the affiliation agreement between our institution and Concordia College should be renewed and Council received and considered the final report of the GFC ad hoc Committee on Student Evaluation of Instruction. Should space permit, the last three topics in this account will receive more detailed reportage in future issues of this bulletin. □

Faculty Data Bank: Signon Correction

Last month, an announcement was circulated by the President's Committee on International Development giving news of a recently developed "Faculty Data Bank," a list available to MTS users of staff interested or expert in the field of international development. Although reported accurately in Folio (21 January, p. 3), some people may have received a memorandum in which incorrect signon information was given.

To gain access to the information, therefore, signon to your MTS account and type the command $RUN PC13:DINT and all should be well. □

Chief Librarian Appointed

When Peter Freeman returns to this University in September 1982, it will be as Chief Librarian. Formerly a Professor of Law and Law Librarian and currently Chief Librarian to the Supreme Court of Canada, Ottawa, his appointment was announced at last week's meeting of the Board of Governors. The appointment becomes effective on 1 September.

Professor Freeman will hold responsibility for the entire library system with funding and the continuation of quality service to users heading the list of priorities. With the position being equivalent to that of a Dean, Professor Freeman will be an ex officio member of General Faculties Council and the GFC Library Committee, and will sit on Deans' Council, the Council of the Faculty of Extension, and the Council of the Faculty of Library Science. He will also serve as a member of the President's Standing Committee on Archives and Documents. Professor Freeman will report to J.G. Kaplan, Vice-President (Research).

A native of Thunder Bay (formerly Fort William), Ontario, Professor Freeman was with The University of Alberta from 1968 to 1980. His education is punctuated by a BA (1958) and LLB (1962), both conferred by the University of Manitoba, and a MLLS taken at the University of Washington in 1970.

He was called to the Manitoba Bar in 1962, was in private practice for four years, and taught at the University of Manitoba for the two years preceding his initial appointment at The University of Alberta. In 1972, he was called to the Bar by the Law Society of Alberta and in 1975 he was appointed Professor of Law and Law Librarian.

Accompanying his appointment as Chief Librarian is an honorary Professorship in the Faculty of Law.

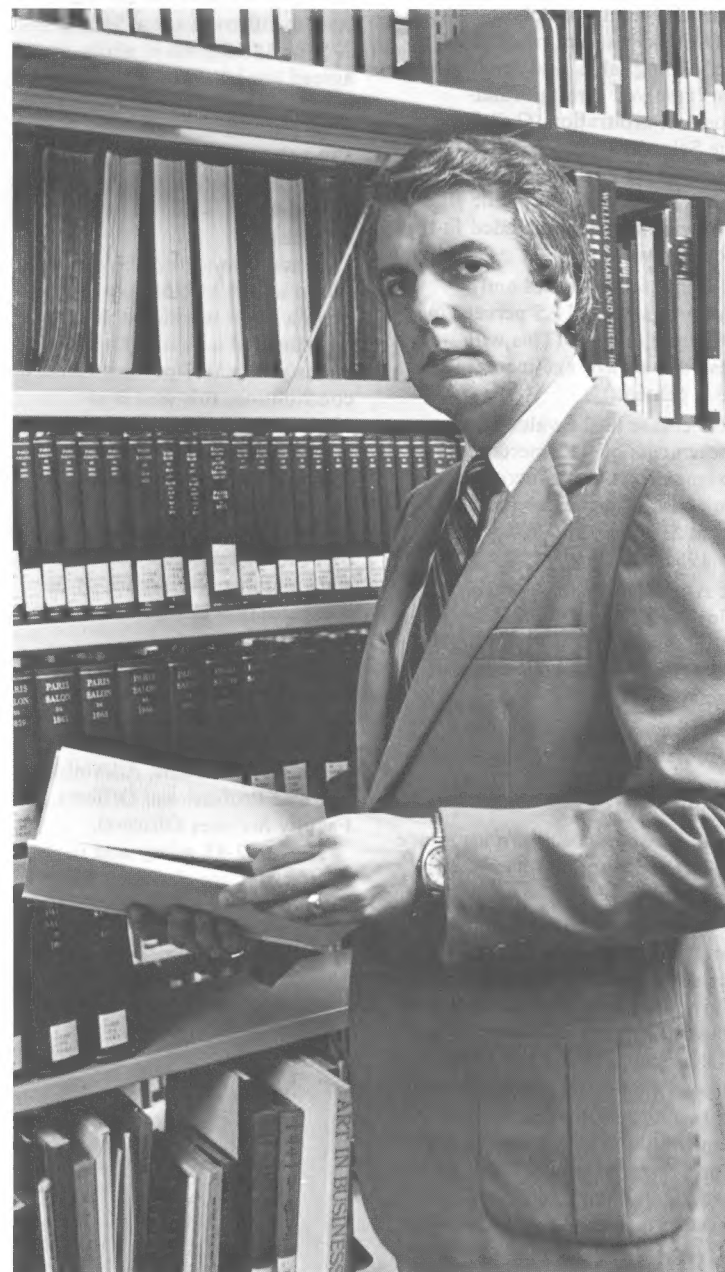

Professor Freeman has extensive legal experience and is on familiar terms with the Alberta scene. University-wise, he is a former President of both the Association of the Academic Staff and the Faculty Club, and a member of the General Appeals Committee. He was also the first Executive Director and a member of the board of the International Ombudsman Institute based in the Faculty of Law.

He has taught Labor Law,

Legal Process, Native Law, Commercial Law, Administrative Law, and Law and Social Problems.

Professor Freeman will succeed Bruce Peel who began his estimable University library career in 1951 and who has served as Chief Librarian since 1956. □

Possible Transit Strike—Contingency Plans

In the event of a transit strike, staff and students who normally use bus service to the University are encouraged to form car pools as alternative methods of transportation.

There is insufficient parking space on campus to accommodate the anticipated influx of vehicles and for that reason some relief has been arranged.

The use of public parking areas at Emily Murphy Park, situated along the riverbank east of Groat Road and north of Saskatchewan Drive just northwest of the University, has been authorized by the City of Edmonton Parks and Recreation Department. The restricted two hour parking there has been waived. This will afford limited overflow parking for some 100 vehicles.

A gratis minibus service between Stadium Car Park and Emily Murphy Park will be operated by the University from 7:15 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. weekdays.

Vehicle pool will provide the usual limited battery boosting service at temperatures —23° C or lower. All those affected are earnestly requested to cooperate in helping to make this temporary contingency function as conveniently as possible. □

1982-83 Academic Staff Arbitration: Report on the Award of the Selection Officer

Academic staff salary and increment scales, plus related benefits, have now been established for 1982-83. As was the case last year, agreement between the Board of Governors and the Association of Academic Staff of The University of Alberta (AASUA) was not reached at the bargaining table, and the impasse was resolved through final-position arbitration. G.C. Hawco, the Selection Officer, made his decision on 22 January 1982 and selected the position of the Board. The various items included in that position were:

1. Increase in salaries and in salary scales by 11.5 percent plus $850 per annum. (This will result in an average increase of 13.5 percent.)
2. Increase in the value of merit increments by 11.5 percent. (For example, the merit increment for an assistant professor increases from $986 in 1981-82 to $1,100 in 1982-83.)
3. Attendant increase in the University's contribution to the Academic Pension Plan (the University contributes 7 percent of salary).
4. Increase in the maximum professional expense allowance—from $404.95 in 1981-82 to $460.10 in 1982-83.
5. Increase in group life insurance coverage by approximately 20 percent.
6. Increase in the University's contributions to the Supplementary Health Care and Dental Care plans sufficient to bring these to a break-even position. (These plans have been underfunded for the past two years.)
7. Increase in the University's contributions to Alberta Health Care, Supplementary Health Care and Dental plans sufficient to meet inflationary cost increases. (The effect of this is to enable the same level of benefits as in the past.)

8. Increase in the maximum disability salary under our Total Disability Insurance Plan.

It is estimated that the cost of the above package for 1,835 staff members is some $12,223,275, or 14.18 percent above the agreed total staff compensation base for 1981-82 of $86,153,570. (The 1981-82 base consists of $78,142,964 for salaries, $5,470,006 for attendant pension costs and $2,540,600 for other benefits.)

In addition to the above, the Board and AASUA have agreed upon a merit increment pool with an estimated cost of $52,478,643, inclusive of the 7 percent pension contribution; this cost is at 1981-82 rates. The effect of this is that salaries and benefits for 1982-83 will see a total increase of $14,701,918 over 1981-82, an increase of 17.06 percent. The average continuing staff member will see his or her compensation changed as shown in Table 1.

Those affected by the new scales, benefits, et cetera, are staff members covered by the four Board-ASSUA Agreements (Faculty, Librarians, Administrative and Professional Officers, and Faculty Services Officers).

The 1982-83 salary and increment scales are shown in Table 2. They will take effect from 1 July 1982. □

Violinist Eduard Melkus to Present Lecture-Recital

The Department of Music is, in gambling and sports parlance, on a roll. The recent turns of events includes the visit by the distinguished musicologist and pianist William S. Newman, and the giving of the Nicholas Arthur Kilburn Memorial Concert by the York Winds Woodwind Quintet. The Verdehr Trio will perform on 18 February, the same day that Austrian violinist Eduard Melkus will present a lecture-recital. Professor Melkus's appearance constitutes the Department's latest coup. A specialist in music of the Baroque and Classical eras, he has done much to encourage the revival of original performance styles and of forgotten early repertory. In 1965, he founded the Vienna Capella Academica, an ensemble of musicians performing on original 18th century instruments (Professor Melkus plays an Amati violin of original Baroque dimensions), and has toured extensively with this group through Europe and Asia.

Professor of violin and viola at the Hochschule für Musik in Vienna since 1958, he has given many lectures, master classes, and interpretation seminars elsewhere, including several German universities, Amsterdam, and Cambridge. He has recently taught a number of semesters as visiting professor at the University of Georgia and at the University of Illinois.

Under the joint sponsorship of the Johann Strauss Foundation and The University of Alberta String Division (Siemens' Fund), Professor Melkus will hold special classes on Baroque performance practice, and give a lecture-recital featuring sonatas of Biber, Corelli, Handel, and Bach, as well as Tartini's "Devil's Trill" Sonata. Rita Steblin, Killam Memorial Post-doctoral Research Fellow, will accompany him on the harpsichord.

The sessions on 18 February are as follows: 9:30 to 11:30 a.m., String Seminar and Master Class; 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., Baroque Performance Techniques in Bach's "St. Matthew Passion" and "B Minor Mass"; 2 to 4:30 p.m., Lecture-Recital: Biber "Rosary" Sonatas, Corelli, Handel, Bach Sonatas, Tartini's "Devil's Trill" Sonata.

All sessions will take place in 1-29 Fine Arts Building. The public is welcome to attend; there is no admission charge. □

Emil Skarin Fund

Invitation to apply

Applications are invited to the Emil Skarin Fund Committee of the University Senate for a 1982 project or projects worthy of financial support amounting to approximately $5,000 from the Fund.

Projects must be of value both to the public as well as to The University of Alberta; be consistent with the general aims and purposes of this University; and not normally funded by it.

Preference will be given to projects with an emphasis on the humanities and the arts, but there are no restrictions on the nature of eligible projects. Project proposals should include objectives, schedule, budget, and procedures for organization and evaluation. Application forms are available on request, and should be returned, completed, by 1 March 1982 to:
